

AN EVEN SPLIT

Republican Members of Council Give Democrats Three Inspectors.

Letting of Sidewalk Improvement Contracts on Ninth and Third Left for New Council.

The city council at its meeting last night appointed inspectors for the city election, and the three Democratic members were allowed to select the inspector from their precinct on a plea for "fairness" put up by member Wilson of the Third ward.

Republicans had been nominated for each place, member McFarlan of the First ward placing two in nomination in the Second ward, but the "fairness" proposition struck home and three Democrats were appointed.

It is to be hoped that in case the Republicans ever get in the minority, that the act will be reciprocated.

The inspectors appointed are as follows:

First ward, Willard Amos, and George Osborne.

Second ward, John Kelley, Jr., and George W. Campbell, Third ward, James Naden and Dr. Frank Smith.

The bids for the improvement on Ninth and on Third streets, by building sidewalks, curb and gutter, as advertised, were placed before the council, and an argument as to the time at which a bid could be filed, the notice being somewhat misunderstood, took place, Will Sparks representing W. A. Caldwell and Donald Smith representing G. R. Kelley, arguing the matter at some length.

The council finally ruled that the ordinance and not the notice prevailed, and all bids filed up to the time of the meeting of the council, to consider them, were admitted, which ruling admitted Mr. Caldwell's bid.

The bids were opened and were as follows:

On West Ninth street Kelleys bid was, on the walk, 15½¢ per square foot; on gutter, 36¢ per lineal foot and curb, 47½¢ per lineal foot, and on Third street the same prices prevailed.

Mr. Caldwell's bid was, for walk, curb and gutter on Ninth street, 14½¢, 47½¢, and 34½¢, respectively. On Third street his price was, 16½¢, 48, 38½¢ cents. Donald Smith requested that the contracts not be let for a time, and the motion by Abercrombie that the matter be carried over to the new council prevailed.

Mr. Dugan, of Eighth and Sexton streets asked the council for permission to do some grading to prevent an overflow of water, which was granted.

The Sterling Buggy company petitioned that the sidewalks being put down on Ninth streets, west of the Big Four tracks be placed next to the curb instead of the building, and the petition was granted.

J. B. Winship was granted permission to tap a sewer for drain.

The regular report of the treasurer, clerk and superintendent of water works were received. Interest on bonds was reported to be due and ordered paid.

The city attorney reported that he had notified the railroad company of the council's action as to bridges.

Wat Bartlett was allowed 25 cents for burying a dead cat and Nathan Horr complained that Jude Levi was interfering with the regular routine of business at the city dump, and the marshal was ordered to look after it.

Pleasant Birthday Anniversary.

Judge Douglas Morris spent Monday in Knightstown with his father, John Morris, the occasion being his eightieth birthday anniversary. All of the old pioneer's children were with him as has been their custom for some years. Judge John Morris, of New Castle, A. O. Morris and Mrs. Elizabeth Heritage, of Knightstown, and J. I. Morris, of New Castle, were there and a most pleasant day was passed by all. Mr. Morris lives a mile north of Knightstown, and he himself drove to Knightstown to meet the children as they arrived. About ten years ago he lost his eyesight, but an operation restored it and Mr. Morris takes a great interest in things about the farm. He has four fine, fat steers, averaging about 1,700 pounds, that he has cared for and fed all winter. They are cornfed, and about ready for the market. Mr. Morris was born in Ohio, but moved to Wayne township when he was eight years old.

He has lived in that community for 72 years, and is one of the foremost pioneers of the county whose ranks are becoming rapidly depleted.

COMMENCED TODAY.

Big Crane Being Pulled Into the Power House.

The big sixteen ton crane at the power house has been raised on blocks and is being drawn into the power house through the west door. The crane is being drawn in over greased rails, which rest on an incline built up to the door, and is being pulled by means of wrenches operated by five or six men. A rope about 2½ inches thick is being used in the work together with several gigantic pulleys.

C. N. Dobbs, of the Northern Engineering works, of Detroit, is here superintending the work.

Mr. Dobbs expects to have the position by mammoth piece of machinery in position by Saturday night. The crane when once upon the inside will be swung round and hoisted on blocks, jack-screws, etc., in an inclined position and to slide into its place on the rails upon which it is to run.

Many Rushville people were watching the work, but the harder part is yet to come.

Madden-Coyne.

Thomas E. Madden and Miss Edna L. Coyne were united in marriage this morning at 9 o'clock by Rev. P. H. Rowan at the Immaculate Conception church. The bride was attired in cream dotted silk mull and pointed lace over taffeta, and carried a beautiful bouquet of bride's roses.

John Lavelle, of Anderson, and Miss Gertrude Demmer, of Darlington, Ind., were the attendants. The bridesmaids' dress was of white pointed de sprit, and she carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. The wedding march from Lohengrin and selections from Faust were played during the ceremony by Sister M. Borromeo.

After the ceremony a nuptial high mass was celebrated and the wedding party repaired to the home of the brides' grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Coyne, of North Morgan street, where a bountiful wedding breakfast was served. Only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present.

The out of town guests were Mr. John Lavelle and the Misses Mary and Nellie Lavelle, of Anderson.

A reception will be tendered the bride and groom tonight at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Madden, of North Morgan street.

Mr. and Mrs. Madden will go to housekeeping at once in their new home on North Sexton street.

CARRIED A GUN.

Last night Policeman Weaver who, in company with Watt Dey, was walking along the Big Four track near the pumping station, just south of the depot, narrowly escaped being shot by a bullet from the revolver in the hands of Frank Hayes.

Hayes, in company with three or four other fellows were on their way to view the Big Four wreck, south of the city, and were walking directly behind Officer Weaver and Dey. The young man works at Fred Cooks' machine shop, and had in his possession a revolver which he was trying to load.

While in the act of loading the gun, the weapon was discharged, and the bullet struck a freight car about two feet behind Weaver and Dey. Both men dodged when the shot struck the car and Weaver, not knowing whether the shot was intentional or not, apprehended the gang.

He searched the crowd and the gun was found in Hayes' possession. The young man was placed under arrest on the charge of carrying concealed weapons, gave bond and was released.

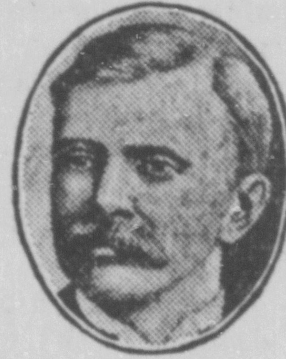

In Police court this afternoon, Hayes pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs, amounting to $15.55 which he paid.

What University Freedom Means

By ANDREW S. DRAPER, Commissioner of Education of New York State

PERHAPS the most gratifying development in recent university administration is a more RATIONAL management of students. The one thing every one in a university demands is freedom. There can be no sound administration without administrative freedom. Student freedom is VITAL to normal and healthful student growth. Administrative freedom does not include the right to be unjust. Teaching freedom does not cover the privilege of talking to the public more than to the students, and on top of that TO INSIST ON TALKING LIKE A FOOL. Nor does the student mean that one may go to the dogs without let or hindrance.

All university freedom is to be exercised sanely and with good purposes, or the place must cease to be a university. The lines in American universities are setting for CHARACTER quite as much as for scholarship. German university ideals are being repudiated, as must be the case in this country. A student who hazes his fellow or goes to excess over an athletic victory DESERVES discipline for it, but a trustee who demands a place for his son, a president whose favor turns upon favoritism or prejudice, and a teacher who runs to the newspapers for notoriety, or scoffs at things many people revere, is entitled to NOTHING SHORT OF A FIGHT.

THE SMASHUP

Big Four Extra Freight Collides With Another

Engine and Caboose Derailed Traffic Resumed Last Night Trains Delayed.

About three o'clock yesterday afternoon, engine No. 460 on the Big Four, which was hauling a freight running extra from Greensburg to Wabash, dashed into the rear of another extra, which was standing on the main track, just south of this city.

The rear of the train extended about thirty yards south of the new Big Four bridge upon which the train was standing.

The engineer on engine No. 460 saw the flagman at the rear of the other but was unable to stop his engine in time to avert the collision. Both fireman and engineer after reversing the engine jumped and escaped unhurt.

Engine No. 460 which is one of the largest engines on this division of the Big Four was derailed and pretty badly damaged. The front trucks were twisted, the pilot was smashed into kindling wood and the front of the engine was otherwise broken and twisted.

The caboose attached to the rear of the other train was derailed, being shoved onto the car, so that it stood on end. It was so badly damaged that it was thrown to one side of the track and burned. The rest of the cars on each train were badly jammed together, some of them being damaged, but remained on the track.

The wrecking crew from Greensburg soon arrived on the scene and the rear of the train hauled by engine No. 460 was pulled back to Milroy where it was placed on the siding where it remained over night.

The wrecking crew had the wreck all cleared away by ten o'clock last night so that traffic could be resumed. The south-bound passenger train which arrived here at 3:24 was delayed at this point by the wreck until 9:45 last night.

The north-bound passenger due here at 4:46 p. m. was also delayed until that time. Two or three freight trains were compelled to remain here until the track was cleared.

The crippled engine was so badly smashed that it was impossible for it to haul its train and it was placed on a sliding here where it remained over night leaving this morning for the repair shops.

Several people who were on the passenger trains remained in this city over night and continued to their destinations today while those who patiently awaited the clearing of the wreck spent their time in playing cards, cracking jokes, and indulging in other pastimes.

Fell and Broke His Jaw.

Late Monday afternoon, while working on the roof of a house belonging to him at Knightstown, M. S. Reddick, an attorney of that city, slipped and fell from the roof to the ground, a distance of about twelve feet, and sustained painful injuries. Mr. Reddick was painting the roof, and got too near the edge. In falling his head struck the edge of a board, and his left jaw was broken. His left eye was affected, and is swollen shut. There is thought to be danger that he may lose the sight of that eye.

Mr. Reddick was able to walk to his home on North Washington street, and Dr. Fleener attended his injuries. Mr. Reddick is well known in Rushville where he comes quite often on legal business and his friends will be pained to learn of his injury.

ALEXIEFF IS LET OUT

Viceroy's Position no Longer Tenable, his Resignation

Became Imperative. The Man Who Was Responsible for the War Finds his Star Soon Set.

Yin Kow, April 20.—It is affirmed that a fresh battle is raging at Port Arthur.

St. Petersburg, April 20.—Viceroy Alexieff has applied by telegraph to the emperor to be relieved of his position of viceroy in the far East. It is expected that the request will be immediately granted.

The immediate cause of the viceroy's application is reported to be the appointment of Vice Admiral Skrydloff, one of Admiral Alexieff's strongest enemies and sharpest critics, as successor to the late Vice Admiral Makaroff in command of the Russian navy in the far East. The relieving from command of Viceroy Alexieff would not surprise intelligent observers of the far Eastern situation who are familiar with the gradual change in the emperor's attitude toward the viceroy and M. Bezobrazoff, who represented the militant or advanced element which was anxious that Russia should remain in Manchuria. It was through these official advisers that the emperor conducted negotiations with Japan, and it is claimed that they misjudged the temper and purpose of the Japanese and left the emperor in ignorance of the preparations for war which Japan was making and the rising war spirit of that empire. The enemies of Alexieff have persistently asserted that as the man on the spot he should have kept the emperor informed concerning these vital points.

On the eve of the war Alexieff apparently still had the confidence of the czar, but the lack of preparedness of the Port Arthur fleet called the attention of the emperor to the slackness of the naval administration in the far East. The anti-Alexieff party in St. Petersburg held that Vice Admiral Stark, who was the viceroy's representative, was responsible under him for the first reverse at Port Arthur. The emperor then appointed Vice Admiral Makaroff to command the fleet in succession to Admiral Stark. The emperor selected Makaroff and at the same time issued a special ukase making him absolutely independent. This was the first blow publicly given to Alexieff. The second was the appointment of General Kuropatkin as commander-in-chief of the army in Manchuria. Kuropatkin sided with Count Lamsdorff, the foreign minister, and M. Witte against the policy of Manchurian annexation and stated to the Chinese minister to Russia, Mr. Hoo Wei Teh, that the whole trouble originated with Alexieff. That there might be no doubt of Kuropatkin's exact jurisdiction, the emperor issued another ukase defining it and gave the former minister of war complete control of military operations in the far East. Officials in St. Petersburg say it must then have been evident to Alexieff that his star had waned. He had neither the army nor the navy under his control, being charged merely with the civil administration, but in time of war there is no civil administration, or very little. At first the viceroy received the official dispatches from Makaroff and Kuropatkin, but even this last shred of his dignity was removed when the two commanders communicated directly with the emperor.

When the Petropavlovsk was sunk Alexieff started from Mukden for Port Arthur, telegraphing to the emperor on his arrival there that he had hoisted his flag on the battleship Sevastopol and would direct the operations of the fleet until a new commander was sent out. It is said that no answer to this was sent by the emperor. Without consulting Alexieff's wishes and without considering Vice Admiral Doubasoff, whom he had originally recommended, the emperor telegraphed Vice Admiral Skrydloff to proceed to Port Arthur via St. Petersburg and assume command of the fleet. It is said that not even this fact was officially communicated to Alexieff, and he was allowed to learn of it through the press dispatches. Alexieff considered the matter for three days, at the end of which he is said to have reached a decision to apply for leave. When Alexieff severs his connection with the far Eastern question none of the men responsible for the policy pursued before the war will be in power, M. Bezobrazoff having already lost the confidence of his majesty and the advisory committee's duties at present being purely perfunctory. It is not expected that a successor to Viceroy Alexieff will be appointed, as the importance of the post of viceroy has disappeared owing to the result of the war.

AN AGGRESSIVE CAMPAIGN

New Commander in Far East Proposes to Push Things.

St. Petersburg, April 20.—Vice Admiral Skrydloff, Admiral Makaroff's successor, who is now in St. Petersburg, is quoted as saying: "I believe in offensive tactics. It is necessary to push ahead and take the initiative, instead of letting the enemy keep us in a state of unrest. It is essential to keep him in a state of unrest. It is necessary to invite a combat and take chances. Any combatant who awaits his enemy is practically at his enemy's mercy. But aggressiveness does not mean imprudence. Wisdom must go with boldness, but it is evident that to be aggressive does not mean the same thing for the Russians as for the Japanese at Port Arthur, since the latter have more ships than the former."

IN FITTING REMEMBRANCE

Daughters of Revolution Do Honor to Illustrious Sires.

Washington, April 20.—In the shadow of the majestic shaft of the Washington monument the cornerstone of the Memorial Continental hall which the Daughters of the American Revolution are to build in memory of the heroes of that war was laid yesterday afternoon with impressive ceremonies and in the presence of Daughters from every state in the Union, their daughters and granddaughters. The daughters were seated in an enclosed space on one side of which was erected a stand immediately in front of the cornerstone. The space was elaborately decorated with flags and bunting. Across the front of the stand were four garlands bearing the names of Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, Mrs. John W. Foster, Mrs. Adlai Stevenson and Mrs. Daniel Manning, the first four presidents general of the society. The beginning of the ceremonies was signalled by the singing of "America," the great assemblage being led by the marine band. The invocation was pronounced by the Rev. Edward Everett Hale, chaplain of the senate. An ovation preceded the next number on the program, the address by the president general of the society, Mrs. Charles W. Fairbanks, wife of the senior senator from Indiana. She was repeatedly interrupted by applause. Mrs. Fairbanks' address was brief and told the simple story of the purpose for which the hall was erected.

"It will, when completed," she said, "symbolize the contributions, the beliefs of thousands of patriotic women of the republic, and as we have had the saving faith to believe this place beautiful will stand for ages a temple from which will shine forth the rays of the lamp of liberty kept trimmed and burning by the devoted daughters of patriotic ancestry. It will be a shrine to which future generations will repair to receive renewed inspiration in their work for liberty."

The cornerstone was laid by the grand lodge of Masons of the District of Columbia. The gavel used was the historic one which President Washington used when he presided as grand master of the Masons of the state of Virginia in laying the cornerstone of the capitol building.

Parker Rebuffed in Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 20.—The Democratic state convention, which was held here yesterday, refused to instruct the national delegates from Pennsylvania to vote for the nomination of Judge Alton B. Parker of New York for president. The delegates will go to St. Louis uninstructed and will be bound by the unit rule.

The withdrawal of Dowling will naturally be of some assistance to Hugh Miller, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, inasmuch as the Fourth district will concentrate their efforts to nominate him.

Judge Alexander Dowling, of New Albany, will not ask for a renomination as judge of the Supreme court from the Second judicial district, which means that Oscar Montgomery now has the field. Judge Dowling has made an excellent judge and is an able jurist and Mr. Montgomery will fill the place in an able manner.

These little "whereas" and "wherefores" that the Democrats of this city have a habit of reading off at their city convention mean nothing to the people. The Democratic party have a mania for passing resolutions and constructing platforms, but show us one that was ever carried out. When the voters of this city go into the booth to vote they should vote for councilmen that can act without the assistance of an ante election "puff and blow" and who need no instructions and who in fact will not receive "instructions" even for a "valuable consideration."

The editor of the Republican discreetly remains silent when asked what the Republican city convention said on the question of increasing gas rates—the wise thing to do when you have nothing to say.—Jacksonian.

As to the Republican remaining "discreetly silent when asked," we must protest that to our certain knowledge we were never asked concerning what the Republican city convention said about increasing gas rates or anything else. Our recollection is that there was nothing said on any question, but that each candidate stands upon his reputation, his honesty and his qualifications, and that the present Republican city government has put itself on record on the gas rate question. The Democratic "platform" is simply a promise, and like the proverbial one, easily broken. The Democratic party from national down to township organizations is a party of promises and platforms, making a new and different one for every occasion, with the hope of catching a vote here and there, but it won't work and the people want something more tangible than a Democratic platform or promise, which they get regularly every campaign. Promises, like ballots in convention, can always be "corrected" before any mischief is done.

The Indianapolis Journal of today says that Z. T. Sweeney, of Columbus, State game and fish commissioner, who was at the English yesterday, threw a new light on the interview attributed to him which is being used by Hearst's managers in Indiana.

"As a matter of fact I did not give such an interview to the papers," said Mr. Sweeney. "In a private conversation which I had with one of our business men about six weeks ago, I did predict that Hearst would be the Democratic nominee, but I threw no bouquets at Hearst other than to say that I thought he would be nominated because he was more distinctively a representative of the real Democratic party than any of the other candidates. Now that might have been taken as a compliment to Hearst or as an insult to the Democratic party."

"At the time I had the conversation referred to I did not have the slightest idea that it would get into the newspapers, and least of all did I think that anything I said would ever be used as campaign literature by Hearst's managers."

A HOPEFUL LOT

Candidates Express Confidence in Their Respective Campaigns.

Indianapolis, April 20.—The time for making claims as to the outcome of the race for governor has arrived.
 Judge Penfield, the Twelfth district candidate, declared today that plans are being made to stampede the convention for certain candidates, but that they will not be successful, as from his observation the delegates as a rule are very high-grade men. He also said that less than 175 delegates outside of the districts in which the candidates live have been instructed regardless of reports to the contrary.
 He is very hopeful of winning. Taylor's friends will be more specific in their claims after the delegates are selected here and in Vigo counties Friday, but they seem to think they have a better chance as the convention approaches. Union B. Hunt, who has charge of Hanly's headquarters, declared today that Hanly will have 650 votes on the first ballot and that he will win on the second. No estimate could be obtained today of the Sayre expectations, as he has not yet opened headquarters here.

Hugh Th. Miller of Columbus, candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, opened headquarters today at the Hotel English.
 W. E. Springer of Elizabethtown, Fourth district chairman, the Rev.
 Zack Sweeney of Columbus, Charles Remy, reporter of the supreme and appellate courts, and other well-known Fourth district men, will be in charge of Miller's headquarters. The Rev.
 Zack Sweeney, who is known all over the country, is Miller's father-in-law.
 He remarked humorously today that he is for Miller as first, second and third choice, and longer if necessary.
 "We think we are going to win," said he. "If there is any truth in the letters we have been receiving from good men in all parts of the state there will be a lot of surprises in store before the convention is over." Springer declared that the Fourth district will probably vote in all contests in the interests of Miller as far as possible.
 Oscar Montgomery of Seymour, the other Fourth district candidate, who is asking for nomination for supreme judge, will also have the loyal support of his district.

There will be no indorsement of Senator Charles W. Fairbanks for vice president at the state convention next week. Chairman Goodrich said so today, which should be conclusive, as he is in very close communication with the senator. An attempt may be made to stick something in the resolutions to indorse him or someone may present a separate resolution, but Senator Fairbanks' political managers will see that no action is taken on the convention floor. They would rather that nothing be said of the boom during the proceedings, as they don't want to have the senator placed in an embarrassing light. The senator will leave Washington Saturday and will probably arrive here Sunday night or early Monday morning. Chairman Goodrich had a conference here today with Congressman James E. Watson of Rushville, who is to be permanent chairman and have the honor of delivering the keynote speech.

Governor Cummins of Iowa, he of the somewhat original ideas on revision and reduction of the tariff schedules, may be heard here next Tuesday afternoon after Representative Watson has delivered the keynote speech.
 He is now at French Lick recuperating. Governor Durbin, who has just returned from there, invited him to attend and he intimated that he would come. Today Chairman Goodrich mailed him an invitation on behalf of himself and the organization, urging him strongly to attend. Governor Cummins is one of the big men of the Republican party in the Western states, and is an orator of recognized ability. Chairman Goodrich is very anxious to have him here to participate in the opening day program, which will be in the nature of a big love-feast.

TWO NEW STARS

House Passes Statehood Bill After a Prolonged Discussion.

TERRITORIES COUPLED

Joint Statehood of Oklahoma and Indian Territory and Arizona and New Mexico.

The Former Will Bear the Name of Oklahoma, the Latter of Arizona.

Washington, April 20.—After a debate extending through the entire session the house has passed the bill providing for joint statehood of Oklahoma and Indian Territory under the name of Oklahoma, and of Arizona and New Mexico under the name of Arizona. In discussing the rule which had been reported by the committee on rules, providing for immediate consideration of the bill, Mr. Williams, the minority leader, declared that no Republican had any idea that the bill would become a law at this session.
 Delegate Wilson of Arizona opposed the bill. It was favored by Delegates Rodey of New Mexico and McGuire of Oklahoma.

The question of additional accommodations in the way of office and committee rooms occupied the attention of the senate the greater part of the day. The subject arose in connection with the provisions in the sundry civil appropriation bill, one for an extension of the east front of the capitol building in accordance with sketches left by Architect Walters, and the other for an outside senate office and committee building. Much variety of opinion was expressed.

LOOKING FOR TROUBLE

Pennsylvania Mining Town in Hands of Armed Men.

Somerset, Pa., April 20.—An outbreak even more disastrous than the riot at Boswell last January has been hourly expected at the town of Garrett, the scene of the mining operations of the Garrett Coal company, the Somerset Coal company and other lesser operations. Trouble has been brewing there ever since the inauguration of the miners' strike five months ago. A number of the striking miners at Garrett own homes there, but recently the Garrett Coal company erected a number of houses, and the bringing of new men to occupy these houses and take the places of the workers in the mines has worked the latter up to a high state of excitement and resentment, and for the last few days the town has been a veritable mine of indignation. The strikers have been parading the streets openly armed, and they have prevented the moving of the household goods of incoming miners from the railroad station to the new company houses.

A horror that may or may not be connected with the strike situation at Garrett, was the burning to death of two women and four children in their home at that place. The origin of the fire is unknown, but rumor connects it with the troubles growing out of the miners' strike. The strikers lay the origin of the fire to a number of Italians who are working for the Garrett Coal company, but what motive the foreigners could have for such a crime has not developed. Strikers armed with Winchester rifles paraded the streets yesterday. They say this demonstration is to prevent the Italians from leaving the community before the coroner's inquiry has been completed.

Operators Refuse Conference.

Denver, Col., April 20.—President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America, who is attending the quarterly meeting of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, denied the report that any negotiations are in progress in reference to settlement of the Southern Colorado coal miners' strike. The strikers have been at all times willing to confer with the operators, but the coal companies still refuse to meet any representatives of the unions.

It Was Loaded.

Connersville, Ind., April 20.—Earl Stant, seventeen years old, a well-known youth of this city, is dead as the result of a gunshot wound accidentally inflicted by Carl Fisher, a companion of the same age. Fisher says the revolver went off accidentally while in his hand. The ball struck his companion in the forehead, penetrating the brain.

Will Not Last Long.

Pittsburg, April 20.—T. J. Shaffer, president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, says that the strikes at several tin plants throughout the country inaugurated by the catchers would probably be of short duration. Several plants have been shut down on account of the trouble.

Coal Mine on Fire.

Petersburg, Ind., April 20.—The Bradford coal mines near this city are on fire and have been abandoned.
 There were no fatalities. Owing to the location of the mine on the side of a hill it cannot be flooded. The damage will be heavy.

TEN MILLION DOLLAR BLAZE

Toronto's Wholesale District Devastated by Flames.

Toronto, Ont., April 20.—Fire swept through a section of Toronto's wholesale business district last night, causing a loss which will reach fully ten million dollars. The fire started in a factory in Wellington street about 9 o'clock. In less than an hour the flames had spread to buildings on both sides of the street until the whole block was a mass of flames and the fire utterly beyond control of the local department. Appeals were sent to every surrounding city where fire apparatus could be obtained, asking for assistance. It was believed at 11 o'clock that the fire was under control, but a sudden shift in the wind again fanned the flames into a roar and clouds of sparks and burning brands were carried down side streets until three entire blocks were doomed.
 The firemen were making a gallant fight amid the falling buildings and a mass of tangled wires, but their efforts at midnight seemed to be fruitless.
 Not until the flames encompassed Bay street did the fire burn itself out.

Chief Thompson of the fire department and George Dowkes of Montreal were cut off by the flames while directing the work of firemen from a roof. Thompson jumped six stories to the ground and miraculously escaped with a broken leg. A mass of tangled wires broke his fall near the ground.
 Dowkes has not been seen since, and it is believed he perished.

PANAMA CANAL STRIP

Ownership of Same Will Soon Pass to Uncle Sam.

Paris, April 20.—Important action relative to the Panama canal was taken here by the conclusion of all formalities for the transfer to the United States of the concession held by the Panama Canal company. These formalities have reached such an advanced stage that practically nothing remains to make the transfer complete, but as a measure of precaution the details of the action already taken are not made public pending the meeting of the stockholders of the company next Saturday, when it is expected the final transfer of the concession will be ratified. It can be stated, however, that the action already taken positively assures the ownership of the canal by the United States.

A REFERENDUM VOTE

May Be Required to Settle Block Coal Miners' Dispute.

Brazil, Ind., April 20.—The block coal miners and operators are again trying to effect an agreement on the district scale. A conference of the scale committees was held here, and after being in session all day, adjourned without gaining any ground.
 The miners still insist on their demands and the operators refuse to grant any of them. The operators submitted a proposition to the miners to renew the old scale with the 5.55 per cent reduction. The scale committee will present the operators' proposition to the miners' delegate convention, which is called in special session for this afternoon.

The proposition will probably be referred to the miners' local unions for a referendum vote before a settlement is made. Both the miners and operators express the opinion that the scale will be signed this week.

EULOGY OF HANNA

Indiana's Distinguished Senators Pay Eloquent
Tribute.

DEAD LEADER OF REPUBLICANISM

Senator Beveridge Said of Him That He Was a Doer of Real Things Whose Work Will Long Linger After Him—Senator Fairbanks Pays the Tribute of Affectionate Personal Friendship.

Two of the strongest speeches made during the memorial exercises recently held in the senate in honor of the late Senator Hanna were those delivered by Senators Fairbanks and Beveridge, of this state. Of Senator Beveridge's effort on this occasion a Washington correspondent says:

"Senator Beveridge's eulogy on Senator Hanna was the finest oration of the kind heard in the senate chamber for many years. Senator Teller complimented Senator Beveridge in person, and said that during twenty-seven years' observation in the senate he had never known anything so well delivered. The junior Indiana Senator spoke without manuscript, in a well modulated voice, and in a way that thoroughly impressed and thrilled his auditors. He was the recipient of many congratulations from correspondents and men in public life."

Senator Beveridge said: "Mr. President, since to all earthly work an end must come, our words of farewell to a fellow-workman should not alone be those of grief that man's common lot has come to him; but of pride and joy that his task has been done worthily. Powerful men so weave themselves into their hour that, for the moment, it all but seems the world will stop when they depart. Yet, it does not stop or even pause. Undisturbed Time still wings his endless and unwearied flight; and the progress of the race goes on and up toward the light realizing at every step, more and more of the true, the beautiful and the good."

"So it is not important that any of us should long remain; the Master Builder lacks not craftsmen to take our place. But it is important to the uttermost that while we are here, we should do our duty to the full perfection of our powers, fearlessly and faithfully, with clean hands, and hearts ever full of kindness, forbearance and charity."

"These are the outline thoughts that the absence of our friend compels. With his whole strength he did his work from boyhood to the place of rest. He was no miser of his life—he poured it into discharge of duty, keeping with nature no account of heart beats."

A Doer of Real Things.

"The things he did were real things. He was the very spirit of the practical. Yet the practical did not kill or even impair the human in him. He never lost the gift of loveliness. His sense of human touch and fellowship was not dulled, but made more delicate by time and the world. The years made him wiser, but they made him meliower, too."

"And so he won the people's affection as well as their applause. And affection is worth more than applause. There is no greater glory than this—to make a nation your friend. Senator Hanna did that. For, when the angel of peace, which men call Death, took our brother to his well-earned rest, the people knew that a friend had left them. And the people were sad that he had gone away."

"This human quality in him made all he did a living thing, all he said a living word. He was the man of affairs in statesmanship; yet his personality gave to propositions of mere national business something of the warmth and vitality of principles. He was the personification of our commercial age—the age of building, planting, reaping; of ships on ocean and on land steel highways and the rolling wheels of trade; of that movement of the times which knits together with something more than verbal ties all the children of men, weaves tangible civilization around the globe and will, in time, make of all peoples neighbors, brothers, friends."

"Thus he was, unwittingly, no doubt, one of the agents of God's great purpose of the unification of the race. We are all such agents, small or great. If this is not so—if we are not, ignorantly perhaps and blindly but still surely, spinning our lives into the Master's design, whose pattern He alone can comprehend—if we and all things are not working together for good—if life is but a breath exhaled and then forever lost, our work means less and is worth less than that of coral insects, which, from the depths, build ever toward the light until islands stand above the waves, permanent monuments of an intelligent architecture. What His Conservatism Meant.

"Work with real things—real earth, real ocean, real mountains, real men—made him conservative. And his conservatism was real. Much that is accepted as conservatism is spurious, mere make-believe. Conservatism does not mean doubt or indecision. It does not mean wise looks, masking vacuity nor pompous phrase, as meaningless as it is solemn. Conservatism means clear common sense, which equally rejects the fanaticism of precedent and the fanaticism of change. It would not have midnight last just because it exists; and yet it knows that dawn comes not in a flash, but gradually—comes with a grand and beautiful moderation. So the conservative is the real statesman. He brings things to pass in a way that lasts and does good. Senator Hanna was a conservative."

"Working with real things among real men also kept fresh his faith and hope. No sailor of the seas, no deliverer in the earth, no builder of roof-trees can be a pessimist. He who plants doubts not our common mother's generosity, or fails to see in the brown furrow the certainty of coming harvests. He who sinks a well and witnesses the waters rise understands that the eternal fountains will never cease to flow. Only the man whose hands never touch the realities of life despairs of human progress or doubts the providence of God. The fable of Anteus is literal truth for body, mind and soul. And so Senator Hanna, dealing with living men and the actualities of existence, had all the virtue of youth, all the unquestioning faith of prophecy. These are the qualities of the effective leadership of men. His Influence Lives."

"He is gone from us—gone before us. Strength and frailty, kindness and wrath, wisdom and folly, laughter and frown, all the elements of life and his living of it have ceased their visible play and action. 'Where,' said despairing Villon, 'where are the snows of yesteryear?' Vanished, he would have us believe. Yes, but vanished only in form. 'The snows of yesteryear' are in the stream, in cloud and rain, in sap of tree and bloom of flower, in heart and brain of talent and of beauty. Nothing is lost even here on our ancient and kindly earth. So the energies of our friend, and those of all men, have touched into activity forces that, influencing still others, will move on forever."

"As to the other life, we know not fully what it is; but that it is, we know. Knowing this, we who are left behind go on about our daily tasks, assured that in another and truer existence our friend is now established, weakness cast aside as a cloak when winter has passed, vision clear as when at dawn we wake from dreams, heart happy as when, the victory won, we cease from effort and from care. For him the night is done, and it is written that 'joy cometh in the morning.'"

STATE NEWS

Indianapolis, April 20.—An early decision is expected in the cases before the supreme court to test the constitutionality of the legislative reapportionment act of 1903. It has developed since the oral argument yesterday that among the Republican leaders there is a feeling that after all the constitutionality of the act may be established. Addison C. Harris and Attorney General Charles W. Miller advanced a new idea: That is that if the present act should be declared unconstitutional and if the act of 1897 should be reverted to that a greater hardship would be worked on many counties than under the one the Democrats are trying to have declared void. Harris and Miller took the position and gave figures to support their claims, that the growth of population since the act of 1897 has been so disproportionate that more counties will be unfairly treated than under the new act. In this county, for instance, there would be nearly 15,000 people deprived of representation if the old act should be revived. Without making much attempt to justify the act of 1903, the attorneys for the Republican side are holding that it would be worse than jumping from the frying-pan into the fire to go back to the old act. The Democratic attorneys easily produced figures showing by comparison how poorly constructed the act was and how unfair it is to many districts. A majority of the party leaders believe the act will be set aside, but there is a well-grounded feeling that between the two acts it will be hard to say which is the greater evil.

MADE AN ASSIGNMENT

McCoys Turn Over Property to Their Creditors.

Rensselaer, Ind., April 20.—The banking house of A. McCoy & Co. has made an assignment for the benefit of their creditors, and named W. A. Rinehart assignee. Some 3,300 acres of land, the bank building, valued at $25,000, and other small parcels of land were conveyed in the trust deed to the assignee.

A. McCoy, president, stated that if the creditors would use judgment in not forcing the sale of the land at a sacrifice there would be plenty of available funds to pay every dollar of indebtedness and leave a good margin for owners of the bank. There seems to be some dissatisfaction on the part of the creditors, but a large majority of them are in favor of giving the McCoys a reasonable opportunity to settle. There is no disposition on the part of depositors of other banks to start a run, and it can be truthfully said there is no panicky feeling whatever. The authority for this statement comes from officers of other banks.

A Strenuous Wooling.

Kokomo, Ind., April 20.—In the trial of Samuel Michaels, indicted for burning the home of Aaron Shock, near Burlington, in November last, L. E. Collier, agent for the Farmers' Insurance company, testified that Michaels confessed to him that he gave John Bowen $5 with which to buy dynamite to be used in wrecking the Shock home, and Michaels asserted to Bowen that he did it in order that Ella Burns, a domestic in the Shock family, might lose her position and be forced to take service with him. Michaels told Bowen that he loved the girl and wanted her near him. Michaels is sixty years old and the girl nineteen.

Trying to Locate Highwaymen.

Anderson, Ind., April 20.—County Coroner Charles Trueblood has returned his verdict in the death of A. J. Norton, the groceryman at Alexandria, who was assaulted and robbed more than a week ago and died as a result of the assault. He found that death had been caused by being hit over the head with a club in the hands of highwaymen. The police are putting forth every effort to locate the highwaymen.

Wanted County to Bury Him.

Crawfordsville, Ind., April 20.—J. I. Williams, a carpenter, in ill health and despondent because he could not support his family, committed suicide with a rifle bullet in his brain. He left a note addressed to his wife, reading: "Be at no expense, let the county bury me." Williams was fifty-five years old, with a large family.

New Trial Refused.

Crawfordsville, Ind., April 20.—Judge West has refused to grant a new trial in the damage suit of Mrs. June Gregg against Mrs. Sarah M. Gregg, which was won by the former, and the suit will be taken to the supreme court. The defense offered over eighty reasons for a rehearing and Judge West overruled all of them.

Military balloons are an important part of the British army. Experiments and tests are carried on constantly in England. A balloon of the type generally used carries from two to five officers, each of whom is a map maker or photographer. The balloons are generally elevated to a height of from 1000 to 3000 feet and anchored by wire cables. The Japanese are highly informed in this branch of warfare and are able to hold their own against the Russians.

The Herreros, whom the Germans are now fighting in Southwest Africa, number 20,000 fighting men, of a class far superior to most of the African native races.

Nail driving and throwing stones at a cat are two things that women can't do as well as men. There was a nail driving contest at Shelbyville, Monday night by women and some did real well, but some "cruel mean man" said in a "heartless and freezing" manner that "they couldn't nail a board on a fence."

The old fire bell at Shelbyville, which did duty for thirty years, warning people of that city of fires, has again been pressed into service after a year of rest. The bell has been placed in the tower at the new city hall and since the clock has been placed in position and started to running it strikes the hour. They say the old bell "sounds natural."

Barrett, Eminent Commander of the local Knight Templars. Mr. Glass had been in Rushville to inspect the quarters of the new lodge, which has been petitioned for that city. Mr. Glass succeeded L. P. Newby, of this city, as Eminent Commander.

The Epicurean club met last evening with Miss Edith Hiner at her home on Second street and an enjoyable time was had. The menu for the occasion consisted of baked chicken, with gravy and dressing, green peas and new potatoes, baked beans and salad, creamed oysters on toast, fruit, jelly, coffee, strawberry short cake and cream. The Epicurean club is composed of ten of Rushville's most popular ladies, who are noted for their splendid ability as good cooks.

"Billy" McManus, who has been confined in the Deaconess Hospital, Indianapolis, since his injury in the wreck of the Purdue special, October 31, was a happy young man yesterday. For the first time since the accident he walked about a little, but his limbs lacked the strength they had in the days when he bucked the line and starred as an athlete. The physicians at the Deaconess hospital think that McManus will be able to leave the hospital in two or three weeks. Several times it has been thought that he could soon be released, but the crushed condition of the bones of his legs has caused unforeseen trouble each time, necessitating a delay.

According to the New York Medical Journal, "to the danger from germs contracted in kissing is super-added, in the case of the neuropath, that of a shock highly injurious to the nervous system," says an exchange. The young fellows in Fayette county don't attribute the shock to neuropath. They insist that it is the toe of the old man's boot.

Connersville News: Louis Ludlow, Washington correspondent of the Indianapolis Star, passed through this city, yesterday, enroute to Glenwood, on a visit to relatives. From now on Mr. Ludlow will devote his time to journeying over the State in the interest of his paper. Lew has established quite an enviable reputation as a political writer and his "stuff" is being widely copied by the papers throughout the State.

A young man at Shelbyville asked a girl to marry him recently and she refused. Since then he sleeps well, and has not lost his appetite, no grave lines have formed around his mouth, and he hasn't dreamed of suicide. He is fond of the girl and he can't understand why he feels so well. It is contrary to all the precedents established by novel writers—but perhaps the novel writers don't get their heroes or heroines from Shelbyville.

Before a full bench of the Supreme Court at Indianapolis yesterday, the attorneys argued the test case in the Legislative apportionment act. Major G. V. Menzies, for the Democrats, said Indiana would have to go 40,000 Democratic under this apportionment before the Democrats could get control of the Indiana legislature. Attorney A. C. Harris, for the Republicans, asked Major Menzies if he thought there could be any law constructed that would make it possible for the Democrats to get control of the Indiana legislature. STOLE CHICKENS.

Joseph Litteral and John Keating Arrested by Officer Weaver.

Joseph Litteral and John Keating were arrested yesterday evening about seven o'clock, by Officer Weaver and lodged in jail on the charge of petit larceny.

The charges were preferred by John Hiner, the former liveryman and rural mail carrier, who keeps a bunch of chickens in a shed near his stables, just east of the millrace.

The complaint alleges that Litteral and Keating broke open the roof of the chicken house night before last and stole several fowls which they later sold to John McCarty, of this city.

They plead guilty to the charge in Police court this afternoon, and were bound over to the circuit court. They are now in jail.
